

Nancy Knowlton

Sant Chair in Marine Science
Smithsonian Institution
National Museum of Natural History
Washington DC

Dr. Nancy Knowlton holds the Sant Chair in Marine Science at the Smithsonian's National Museum of Natural History in Washington DC and is senior scientist emeritus at the Smithsonian Tropical Research Institute in Panama. Dr. Knowlton is the author of National Geographic's best-selling Citizens of the Sea, was the founding director of the Center for Marine Biodiversity and Conservation at the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, and serves as the Editor-in-Chief of the Smithsonian's Ocean Portal website. Dr. Knowlton's research centers on the diversity and conservation of life in the ocean, working on both crustaceans and corals, and her studies have taken her across the tropics. She contributes regularly to the global ocean conversation via @seacitizens and has worked to promote messages of conservation success via the #OceanOptimism initiative and the Earth Optimism Summit. She is a winner of the Peter Benchley Prize and the Heinz Award, and was elected to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and to the U.S. National Academy of Sciences in 2013.